

APPI Journals Internet Access License Agreement

Institutional Subscribers

For the purposes of this document:

- Journal: These guidelines are applicable to the American Journal of Psychiatry, Psychiatric Services, Psychosomatics, Academic Psychiatry, The Journal of Neuropsychiatry and Clinical Neurosciences, FOCUS, and Psychiatric News.
- Internet Access is defined as the viewing and use of subscribed Journal content online via the World Wide Web.
- Institution: For the most part, an Institutional Subscription authorizes use at a localized site. A "site" is an organizational unit, and may be academic or nonacademic. For organizations located in more than one city, each city is considered a different site. For organizations within the same city that are administered independently, each office is considered a different site. For example, each campus in the State of University of New York system is considered a different site, and each branch or office of UpJohn Laboratories is considered a different site.
- Authorized Users are persons with a current, authenticated affiliation to the subscribing Institution. This includes full- and part-time students and employees (including faculty, staff, affiliated researchers, and independent contractors) plus other individuals who have permission to use the public computers on the subscribing institution's campus.
- APPI is American Psychiatric Publishing, Inc., the publisher of Journal (1000 Wilson Boulevard, Suite 1825, Arlington, VA 22209-3901; Voice: 703-907-7322 or 800-368-5777; Fax: 703-907-1091; Email: institutions@psych.org).

Institutional subscribers and APPI agree to the following terms and conditions:

1. SUBSCRIPTION ACCESS: An online subscription permits unlimited simultaneous Internet Access to complete journal content by Authorized Users for the entire subscription term. Secure proxy access from off-campus locations is allowed.
2. COPYRIGHT: Unless otherwise noted, APPI or the American Psychiatric Association holds the copyright on all materials published in Journal, whether in print or electronic form, both as a compilation and as individual chapters and articles. All Journal content is subject to "fair use" provisions of U.S. or applicable international copyright laws [<http://www.copyright.gov/title17/92chap1.html>].
3. AUTHORIZED USE: Authorized users are permitted to reproduce or disseminate Journal content within the parameters of applicable copyright law. The following uses are specifically authorized:
 - a. Downloading: Downloading, printing, or saving of Journal content for the purposes of research, teaching, and/or private study by Authorized Users is permissible. Systematic downloading (by robots or other automatic processes) is prohibited without explicit approval.
 - b. Interlibrary Loan: Institutional subscribers may fulfill interlibrary loan requests from other institutions via fax or paper document delivery under CONTU (National Commission on New Technological Uses of Copyright Works) guidelines [<http://www.cni.org/docs/infopols/CONTU.html>]. Redistribution of Journal content to non-authorized users in electronic or digital form is prohibited without prior approval from APPI.
 - c. Accessibility: Institutional subscribers may transcribe any portion of Journal content into Braille script, enlarged type, or other appropriate versions in order to allow Authorized Users with disabilities to access Journal content.

- d. Reprints: For permission to reprint or copy Journal content beyond that permitted by Section 107 or 108 of the U.S. Copyright Law, contact American Psychiatric Publishing, Inc.'s Permissions Department [<http://www.appi.org/permissions.cfx>].
4. RESTRICTIONS:
- a. Nonauthorized users: Except as specifically provided elsewhere in this Agreement, Institutional subscribers are prohibited from making agreements for access to Journal content with individuals, organizations, vendors, affiliates, or partners who are not Authorized Users.
 - b. Commercial redistribution: No direct commercial re-use (e.g., downloading, posting of a file, or printing to sell or distribute to any nonauthorized user) of any Journal content is permitted without prior, express written permission of American Psychiatric Publishing, Inc. Permission is granted, however, to provide a limited amount of print or electronic Journal content for purposes of regulatory approval, patent and/or trademark applications, or other legal or regulatory purposes.
 - c. Removal of copyright and trademark notices: Institutional subscribers agree not to remove, cover, overlay, obscure, block, or change any copyright or trademark notices, legends, or terms of use.
 - d. Modification: Institutional subscribers shall not modify or create a derivative work of any Journal content without the prior written permission of APPI.
5. AUTHENTICATION: Institutional subscribers will make reasonable efforts to create and maintain appropriate security measures to ensure that only Authorized Users can access subscribed Journal content online.
- a. IP addresses: Institutional subscribers affirm that all Internet Protocol ("IP") addresses provided for use of online Journal content are controlled by the Institution exclusively for Internet Access by Authorized Users.
 - b. Abuse: If Institutional subscribers become aware of unauthorized access to Journal, they will notify APPI immediately and cooperate in locating and attempting to stop the specific individuals who are abusing the service. If the specific abuser(s) cannot be identified or stopped, APPI has the right to withhold, suspend, or terminate access to any or all Journal content, without liability.
6. ARCHIVING: APPI acknowledges that Institutional subscribers may participate in the LOCKSS system for archiving digitized publications. To benefit from this support, Institutional subscribers must install a LOCKSS cache at their Institution. (See <http://lockss.stanford.edu> for further information.) The Institutional subscriber may perpetually use the LOCKSS system to archive and restore Journal content, so long as the Institutional subscriber's use is otherwise consistent with this Agreement. APPI further acknowledges and agrees that, in using the LOCKSS system, Journal content may be made available to other LOCKSS system participants who indicate a right to the subscribed Journal content.
7. TECHNICAL ACCESS: APPI intends for the Journal web site to be available 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. However, APPI WILL NOT BE LIABLE FOR DAMAGES OR REFUNDS SHOULD THE SITE BECOME UNAVAILABLE TEMPORARILY OR ACCESS TO A SITE BECOMES SLOW OR INCOMPLETE due to system back-up procedures, Internet traffic volume, upgrades, overload of requests to the servers, general network failures or delays, or any other cause which may from time to time make Journal content inaccessible to Institutional subscribers. APPI will make reasonable efforts to notify Institutional subscribers of any unusually extended interruptions and will attempt to restore access to sites as soon as possible.
8. WARRANTY: APPI affirms it has obtained any and all necessary permissions to license Journal content, and that use of such content by Authorized Users in accordance with this Agreement shall not infringe the copyright of any third party. Although it seeks to ensure the accuracy of content posted online, APPI DOES NOT WARRANT OR GUARANTEE ITS ACCURACY, COMPLETENESS, MERCHANTABILITY, OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. Neither APPI nor Institutional subscribers shall be liable for any indirect, special, incidental, punitive, or consequential damages, including but not limited to loss of data, business interruption, or loss of profits, arising out of the use of or the inability to use the Journal content.

9. SEVERABILITY: If any portion of this Agreement turns out to be invalid, illegal, under dispute, unenforceable or in conflict with the law of any jurisdiction, the rest of the provisions shall remain applicable.
 10. DISPUTES: In the event of any dispute or controversy arising out of or relating to this Agreement, APPI and Institutional subscriber agree to exercise their best efforts to resolve the dispute as soon as possible. Any dispute that cannot be resolved by mutual agreement shall be subject to mediation or binding arbitration subject to the jurisdiction nearest to APPI's headquarters. Both parties shall, without delay, continue to perform their respective obligations that are not affected by the dispute.
 11. RENEWAL: This agreement shall be renewable at the end of the current term for a successive term unless either party gives written notice of its intention not to renew 30 days before expiration of the current term.
-
-